

TWENTY-THIRD YEAR

FIVE MINERS LOSE LIVES

Disastrous Explosion Wrecks Mine of Coal Company at Madisonville

INSPECTOR LONG AND VOLUNTEERS GET INTO MINE BUT FIND NO BODIES

One Man Blown From Bottom of Shaft
300 Feet to Surface

CHIEF INSPECTOR NORWOOD NOW ON THE SCENE

Joe Hollowell's body was found this morning and brought to the surface. The bodies of two of the negro miners were located during the night and brought out this morning, but were not fully identified, so that the name of the miner not yet found cannot be stated.

Sudden and urgent calls by telephone from Madisonville, shortly before 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening announced to Earlington mining men the disastrous explosion that had just occurred in the mine of the Coal Company located northeast of that place on the new L. & N. cut-off. Thos. Long, assistant mine inspector, was notified and hurriedly prepared his oxygen helmets and other rescue apparatus for the trip to the scene, though there was scarcely a hope that any of the five men who were in the mine could have survived the explosion. Frank D. Rash caught a train quickly and went to the mine, where he spent the night assisting in the work of getting air down the shaft by use of the steam jet and the other work undertaken by the inspector and mining men present.

The men who lost their lives were: Joseph Hollowell, night boss, white.
Lester Clements, colored.
Chas. New, "
Will Hughes, "
Leslie Petree, "

The explosion occurred just after these men had reached the bottom of the shaft for their night work. The body of Will Hughes was blown from the bottom of the shaft and landed on the roof of the weigh-house in the pit-head building well above the surface, a distance of more than 300 feet from the bottom. Ladders in the air shaft mainway were torn away for about half the distance from the bottom and the building at the head of the air shaft was blown to pieces and scattered about, the bulk of it having been blown over the top of a sycamore tree, breaking limbs off the tree in its descent. Thos. Peyton, of this place, and H. R. Tweedle, of Victoria, were among the mining men present who assisted in the work throughout the night. Tweedle being the first to descend the air shaft with a light to test the air and feel his way toward the bottom. At the bottom of the sixteenth ladder he descended he found the lower ladders had been displaced by the explosion and could go no further. Yesterday morning Thos. Long, of this place, and Huw Jones, of Central City, went as far down the shaft as the debris would allow, finding that the shaft was filled with wreckage to the depth of perhaps 15 or 20 feet. The conditions were such that mining men expressed the belief that the clearing of the shaft would be difficult and slow, but every effort would be made to recover the bodies of the victims as soon as possible.

A telephone call was made from here Sunday night to the rescue station at Evansville, asking that the rescue car be sent to Madisonville, but the response said the car was at Knoxville, Tenn.

The usual night force is from 15 to 18 men and the report was at first current on the streets of Madisonville that eighteen men had been lost. Those who looked at the shaft following the noise of the explosion saw much timber and debris flying high in the air. Then a great mass of dense, black smoke rolled out of the shaft and the air from the mine cleared in a short time. Fortunately no fire followed the explosion. The damage cannot be estimated until the wreckage is removed and the mine explored.

Mr. Hollowell was formerly employed at the Victoria mine and was well known here. He was about 21 years old and leaves a wife and one child. Mrs. Hollowell was so overcome by the news that her life was for a time almost despaired of.

Yesterday afternoon Assistant Inspector Long, Thos. Peyton, H. R. Tweedle and others reached the bottom of the main shaft and explored all the mine that was accessible, but were unable to locate any bodies, which are now known to be buried under the debris and may be in the sump at the foot of the main shaft, which is filled with wreckage of the shaft and mine. Some eighty feet of the partition in the main shaft was torn out by the explosion. The searchers found the bodies of all four of the mules that were in the mine.

Chief Inspector C. J. Norwood arrived at Madisonville last evening and will direct the future work and investigation.

CHRISTIAN SUNDAY SCHOOL STEADILY GROWING

Thirty-Four New Pupils—Result of Committee Work

The Christian Sunday School is steadily increasing in attendance. On last Sunday the attendance was 165 and the collection $7.22. There were thirty-four new pupils as a result of committee work.

The ladies class had 26 pupils present, while the men's class had 28, with 10 new ones. The primary class had 10 new pupils also.

F. D. Rash, superintendent, is a splendid leader, and we feel sure if we follow his lead the 200 mark will soon be reached.

The school will find in Rev. Brazelton a companion and helper in every undertaking for good.

Rev. Brazelton Preached to Large Audience Sunday

Rev. Howard J. Brazelton, who has just taken the pastorate, of the Christian church, was greeted by a large audience both at the morning and evening services.

Every one is rejoiced to have Rev. Brazelton here again and under his leadership will do great work for the cause.

FAMILY TOOK REFUGE IN CELLAR

Ben Robinson and family passed through another thrilling experience with a cyclone Sunday afternoon when their home at Knoblick, Mo., was again damaged, this time the roof being taken away. Mr. Robinson and family were in the cellar of the house during the storm and escaped injury. It was on the Saturday night just one week before that the first cyclone almost demolished the house and buried Mrs. Robinson and the children under the debris of falling brick walls, but fortunately only bruising them. Mr. Robinson was in Earlington at the time and went home in response to a telegram from his wife. Yesterday Dan M. Evans received the telegram telling of the second storm and damage.

District Convention Christian Church

The annual Convention of the Christian Churches composing the Twenty First District was held with the church at Nebo last Thursday and Friday. The district is composed of Hopkins, Henderson, Webster and Union counties. There are forty churches and the most of these were represented either with reports or delegates present.

The reports showed nearly all of them in a prosperous condition, and the enthusiasm reached a high pitch. The Woman's Missionary program in charge of Mrs. John L. Long, district manager, was interesting, among the participants being Mrs. H. L. Browning, Mrs. H. S. Corey and Howard J. Brazelton. The Bible School program led by W. J. Clarke one of the State workers, brought out many interesting features of up-to-date methods and emphasized the importance of greater efficiency in this department of church work.

In the reports the Earlington church was shown to be one of the leading in the entire district.

Mrs. John L. Long was re-elected District manager of the Woman's work, and G. B. Swann, of Sebree, president of next Convention which will meet in Corydon in April 1913.

The hospitality of the Nebo people was unexcelled, the delegates being met at the trains, entertained in the homes, and a beautiful dinner served in Hoffman's Hall each day.

Mrs. H. S. Corey, John L. Long, H. L. Browning, M. B. Long, J. M. Oldham, Uley Brinkley and F. B. Arnold together with Howard J. Brazelton composed the delegation from Earlington which was the largest from any one church.

You Need Stationery.

Miniature Court

A most artistic display is shown this week in the window of the St. Bernard Drug Co. in this city.

A most artistic court is arranged composed of a dozen miniature houses artistically painted with Sherwin-Williams paints in the most beautiful harmonizing shades. This has attracted much attention. In the rear of the window are displayed pictures of interior decorations in colors which beautifully bring out the rare tints and blending of the exquisite colors.

No More Dyspepsia.

Gas, or other Stomach Troubles. Nothing will remain undigested or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Digesteze, a powerful digestive, harmless and pleasant as Maple Syrup. For sale by the drug department of the St. Bernard Mining Company, Incorporated.

Thursday Afternoon Literary Club

Miss Carrie Atkinson was the charming hostess at the last meeting of the Thursday Afternoon Literary Club, which met at her home on South Main April 18 in Earlington.

The subject considered was "America's best sculptors and their work" Mrs. F. D. Rash being the leader for the afternoon.

Mrs. Clyde Ruby read a splendid paper, "The Life of St. Gaudens and His Work." Tiffany's Art," was a most excellent paper given by Mrs. B. N. Gordon.

The new members, Mesdames H. F. Head and Paul Banks were present at this session.

Mrs. Edward Hall, of Kansas City a house guest of Mrs. Clyde Ruby was the guest of honor.

An Advertising Contest was thoroughly enjoyed at the close of the program. Mrs. H. F. Head won the greatest number being presented an exquisite silver frame.

During the social hour a most delicious luncheon was served.

BOY SCOUTS ORGANIZED

Capt. Henry Rogers Will be
Scout Master--Sixteen Boys
Enrolled

WORTHY MOVEMENT GIVEN GOOD START

Aprelliminary meeting was held at the residence of F. B. Arnold last night, looking to the organization of a Boy Scout patrol in Earlington, and some sixteen boys were enrolled. Capt. Henry Rogers is to be the Scout master but was unable to be present at the meeting last night. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold and Mayor F. D. Rash were with the boys and initiated them into some of the preliminaries, opening the way for them to acquire certain knowledge as to the history of the flag and other things necessary to learn and to do in order to become a Notcher in the Scouts. This movement is a worthy one and will do the boys great good. It is fortunate to have fallen into such hands.

There are some brave judges in Arkansas. There was a law passed in that state allowing farmers to recover double the loss on live stock killed. And the courts, forgetting all about "the recall," have held the law invalid and have called it confiscation.

RESULTS THAT REMAIN

Are Appreciated by Earlington People

Thousands who suffer from backache and kidney complaint have tried one remedy after another, finding only temporary benefit. This is discouraging, but there is one kidney medicine that has earned a reputation for lasting results and there is plenty of proof of its merit right here in Earlington.

Here is the testimony of one who used Doan's Kidney Pills years ago, and now makes his testimony even stronger.

John Franklin, Earlington, Ky., says: "I have had no occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills nor any other kidney remedy since this preparation cured me some years ago. You are at liberty to use my testimony as heretofore. I had pains in the small of my back when stooping or lifting and I became tired easily. I also had headaches and dizzy spells and had to get up at night to pass the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills proved their merits by relieving me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Purse With Money in a Cod.

A housekeeper at Queenstown, Ireland, constabulary barracks while cleaning a codfish about 30 pounds in weight discovered inside the fish a purse containing a number of silver coins of the reign of Queen Victoria. The purse was of leather, steel bound and in good preservation. It also contained some inscribed paper, which was reduced almost to pulp.

Miss Minerva and William Green Hill

By FRANCES BOYD CALHOUN

(Copyright, by Reilly & Britton Co.)

"That's Leon Tipton, Aunt Ella's little boy. He just came out from Memphis to spend the day with me and I'll be awful glad when he goes home; he's 'bout the sturdiest kid they is, and skeery? He's 'bout the fraidest young 'n ever you see. And look at him now! Wears long curls like a girl and don't want to never get his clean clothes dirty."

"I think he's a beautiful little boy," championed Lina. "Call him over here, Jimmy."

"Now, I don't want to. You all 'll like him a heap better over there; he's one o' these here kids what the funder you get 'way from 'em, the better you like 'em."

"He sho' do look lonesome," said Billy; "vite him over, Jimmy."

"Leon!" screamed his cousin, "you can come over here if you wanta."

The lonesome-looking little boy promptly accepted the invitation, and came primly through the two gates. He walked proudly to the swing and stood, cap in hand, waiting for an introduction.

"Why did n't you clam' the fence, 'stead of coming th'oo the gates?" growled Jimmy. "You 'bout the prisiest boy they is. Well, why don't you set down?"

"Introduce me, please," said the elegant little city boy.

"Introduce your grandma's pussy cats," mocked Jimmy. "Set down, I tell you."

Frances and Lina made room for him between them and soon gave him their undivided attention, to the intense envy and disgust of the other two little boys.

"I am Lina Hamilton," said the little girl on his right.

"And I'm Frances Black, and Jimmy ought to be 'shamed to treat you like he does."

"I knows a turrible skeery tale," remarked a malicious Billy, looking at Lina and Frances. "If y' all wa'n't girls I'd tell it to you."

"We are n't any more scared 'n you, William Hill," cried Frances, her interest at once aroused; "I already know 'bout 'raw meat and bloody bones' and nothing's scarier 'n that."

"And I know 'Fe, Fi, Fo, Fum, I smell the blood of an Englishman. Be he alive or be he dead, I'll ground his bones to make me bread,'" said Lina.

"This here tale," continued Billy, gluing his big eyes to those of the little stranger, "is one Tabernicle learnt fer a speech at school. It's all 'bout a 'oman what was buried in a graveyard with a diamant ring on her finger, an' a robber come in the night—" The child's tones were guttural, thrilling and hair-raising as he glared into the eyes of the effeminate Leon, "an' a robber come in the night an' try to cut it off, an' he'n'te was groanin' an' the win' moan 'oo-oo' an'—"

Leon could stand it no longer.

"I am going right back," he cried rising with round, frightened eyes, "I am not going to sit here and listen to you, scaring little girls to death. You are a bad boy to scare Lina and Frances and I am not going to associate with you;" and this champion of the fair sex stalked with dignity across the yard to the gate.

"I'm no more scared 'n nothing," and indignant Frances hurled at his back. "You're just scared yourself."

Jimmy giggled happily. "What'd I tell you all," he cried, gleefully. "Lina and Frances got to all time set little 'frald cats 'tween 'em," he snorted. "It's just like I tell you, he's the sissiest boy they is; and he don't care who kiss him neither; he'll let any woman kiss him what wants to. Can't no woman at all 'cepting my mama and Miss Cecilia kiss me. But Leon is 'bout the kissestest kid they is; why, he'd just as soon 's not let Frances and Lina kiss him; he ain't got no better sense. 'Course I gotta let Miss Cecilia kiss me 'cause she's 'bout the plumpest Sunday school teacher they is and the Bible say 'If your Sunday school teacher kiss you on one cheek turn the other cheek and let her kiss you on that, too,' and I all time bound to do what the Bible say. You'd better call him back, Frances, and kiss him, you and Lina 're so stuck on him."

"I would n't kiss him to save his life," declared Frances; "he's got the spindliest legs I ever saw."

CHAPTER XX.

Rising in the World.

The painter had just finished putting a bright green coat of paint upon the low, flat roof of Miss Minerva's long back-porch. And he left his ladder leaning against the house while he went inside to confer with her in regard to some other work.

Billy, Jimmy, Frances and Lina had been playing "Fox and Geese." Running around the house they spied the ladder and saw no owner to deny them.

"Le's clam' up and get on top the porch," suggested Jimmy.

"Aunt Minerva 'll put me to bed if I do," said Billy.

"Mother 'll make me learn a whole page of the catechism if I climb a ladder," said Lina.

"My mama 'll shut me up in the closet, but our mamas are n't bound to know 'bout it,"—this from Frances. "Come on, let's climb up."

"I ain't never promise not to clam' no ladder but—" Billy hesitated.

"You-all 'bout the skeeriest folks they is," sneered Jimmy. "Mama 'll whip me going and coming if she finds out 'bout it, but I ain't skeered. I dare anybody to dare me to clam' up."

"I dare you to climb this ladder," responded an accommodating Frances. "I ain't never taken a dare yet," boasted the little boy proudly, his foot on the bottom rung. "Who's going to roller me?"

"Don't we have fun?" cried a jubilant Frances.

"Yes," answered Jimmy; "if grown folks don't all time be watching you and sticking themselves in your way."

"If people would let us alone," remarked Lina, "we could enjoy ourselves every day."

"But grown folks got to be so particular with you all time," cried Jimmy, "they don't never want us to play together."

He led the way up the ladder, followed by Frances and Billy; and Lina brought up the rear. The children ran the long length of the porch leaving their footprints on the fresh, sticky paint.

"Will it wash off?" asked Frances, looking gloomily down at her feet, which seemed to be encased in green moccasins.

At that moment she slipped and fell sprawling on top of the roof. When the others helped her to her feet, she was a sight to behold, her white dress splashed with vivid green from top to bottom.

"If that ain't jus' like you, Frances," Jimmy exclaimed; "you all time got to fall down and get paint on your dress so we can't 'ceive nobody. Now our mamas bound to know 'bout us clamming up here."

"They would know it anyhow," mourned Lina; "we 'll never get this paint off of our feet. We had better get right down and see if we can't wash some of it off."

While they were talking the owner of the ladder, who had not noticed them—and was deaf in the bargain—had quietly removed it from the back-porch and carried it around to the front of the house.

W. S. Bailey, McCreary, Ky., is willing to verify his statement as given herewith. He says "My wife had a severe attack of a gripe that terminated into a bronchitis. She coughed as though she had consumption, could not sleep, and her medicine gave no relief. She was advised to try Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and she continued using it until she had taken three bottles, which effected a permanent cure." Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co., Incorporated, Drug Department.

The Store With the Brass Feet in Front

A Good Cause.

All the school teachers at Lugano have gone on strike owing to a difference with the educational authorities. With splendid loyalty the little pupils are standing by the teachers and urging them not to give way.—Punch.

The liver loses its activity at times and need help. Herbine is an effective liver stimulant. It also purifies the bowels, strengthens digestion and restores strength, vigor and cheerful spirits. Price 50c. Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co., Incorporated, Drug Department.

Discouraging Progress.

"You're not doing as well in your mathematics as you ought to be, Johnny," said Mrs. Lapsling; "at your age your cousin Horace was half way through differential callipers."

Puts End to Bad Habit

Things never look bright to one with "the blues." Ten to one the trouble is a sluggish liver, filling the system with bilious poison, that Dr. King's New Life Pills would expel. Try them. Let the joy of better feelings end "the blues." Best for stomach, liver and kidneys. 25c. All Druggists.

"Brighten Up" Week

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINTS AND VARNISHES

THIS is "Brighten-Up" week---the time for a genuine, old-fashioned house-cleaning---made easier by modern appliances and labor-saving helps. It is not only the time for cleaning and scrubbing and polishing; but for brightening up the home with paints and varnishes and making it permanently cheerful and cozy. It's surprising what a lot you can do with a can of paint, varnish or enamel, a brush and a little energy. That old floor, your soiled and scratched woodwork, the dingy cupboard---all these can be made clean and new, if you use the proper Brighten-Up Finish.

And don't neglect the outside of your home. Painting not only makes it look fresh and neat, but protects the wood and metal from decay and rust, lengthening the life of the building. Of course, the important thing is choosing the paint which looks best, wears the longest; is the easiest to apply, and affords the greatest protection for the money. Poor paint is dear at any price. We recommend Sherwin-Williams Paints and Varnishes because they are scientifically made from the purest materials. Regular colors, price $2.25 per gallon---worth more.

Japalac A Varnish Stain

Our constantly growing trade testifies to the continued popularity of this article. JAPALAC dries quickly, is durable and in every way suited to the many purposes for which it is recommended. While the complete assortment carried in our stock assures you of getting the particular color that you want.

No-Mar [Gloss White]

In NO-MAR we offer an Enamel which is heartily endorsed by every painter who has given it a trial. Can be used on wood or metal with equal results, and will stand repeated washing.

One-half pints 35c---pints 60c---quarts 90c,

Paint Brushes

Good brushes are as necessary to a good job as good paint---and a good painter.

We sell good brushes---the kind to use on first class work.

Miscellaneous

We sell window glass, putty, sponges and everything you will need for your Spring house cleaning. We want to give service and have made our prices as low as is possible for reliable merchandise.

Brighten Up Finishes

No matter what you want to redecorate, we have a Brighten-Up Finish made specially for the purpose. Easy to apply---only the work of a few minutes. Full directions given. Look down this list, then call for a color card.

For a painted finish on new or old floors. S-W Inside Floor Paint gives the best wear. It covers up all unsightly spots and presents a durable finish that is easy to keep clean. Dries over night. Gallons $2.00, half gallons $1.00, quarts 50c.

For cupboards, buy a can of S-W Family Paint and a small brush. Paint the shelves white or some serviceable color and make them sweet and clean. Twenty-seven colors to choose from. S-W Family Paints wear well and may be scrubbed. Also suitable for chairs, woodwork, doors.

S-W Aluminum Ready Mixed

For radiators, pipes or anything requiring a bronze. In presenting this piece of goods to the trade, we confidently believe that we have the best article of its kind on the market today.

Carried in stock in as small size as 1-8 pint, which sells at 15c. Also furnished in larger cans where the work justifies such a purchase.

Kyanize [A Colored Varnish]

With a desire at all times to serve the best interests of our patrons, we have added Kyanize to our stock of paints. KYANIZE is a colored Varnish and can be used with excellent results on Floors and all kind of Woodwork, is offered to the trade in ¼ pints---½ pints, pints and quarts and sells at 15c---25c---45c and 85c respectively.

For a limited time we will give for ten cents, a regular ten cent brush, and a 15c can of KYANIZE, any color, FREE. If you have a small piece of furniture that needs retouching, this is a good opportunity to try out KYANIZE with very little investment.

Porch and Deck Paint [S. W.]

This is a recent addition and one which we believe will fill a long felt want among our many friends. PORCH AND DECK PAINT is made to withstand the weather and therefore is ideal for porches, piazzas, etc.

Sold in the following colors: Dark Gray, Deep Buff, Brown Stone and Dark Slate.

Prices: 1 gallon $2.25---½ gallon $1.15 and quarts 60c.
